

XPRESS – 21/5/09

ADRIAN HAYES
JOURNEY OF A LIFETIME

SUPPLIED PHOTO

Adrian Hayes, a British explorer, and two of his colleagues, have taken their first steps on the Emirates NBD Greenland Quest which will last almost three months. The journey, the equivalent of a London-to-Cairo trip, will be the longest unassisted journey in Arctic history and will last between 65-80 days, depending on the conditions.